EUROPEAN BIBLIODRAMA TRAINING COURSES INFORMATION AND INVITATION

The European Bibliodrama Network (ebn) organises trainings on different levels for participants from different countries. In 2023 a second for leading/facilitating Bibliodrama, in multi-cultural and multi-lingual contexts in accordance to the ebn-Charta is organised:

BIBLIODRAMA FACILITATOR ADVANCED COURSE

- o 200 teaching hours à 45'
- o Course leaders Dr. Wolfgang Wesenberg and Andrea Brandhorst, different lecturers on site.
- o 5 course weeks / modules
- o Own projects and internet-based support between the courses
- o Maximum 15 participants
- o Competence gain: planning and leading Bibliodrama processes with special consideration of multilingual and multicultural groups as well as local contexts
- o Prerequisites: completed basic Bibliodrama course in the sense of the ebn charter or comparable.
- o Basic English is required.
- o In case of long-term participation, at least two people per country.
- o Costs for participation and catering for all five advanced workshops are expected to be approximately 3,590 €. Travel costs are additional. Financial support is possible. (Vilnius about 500 €; Hungary 500 €; Finland 1400 €; Liechtenstein 590 €; Poland 600 €).

European Bibliodrama Trainings

- o Participation in all five workshops (A1-A5) and completion of the practical projects are required for a certificate as a Bibliodrama leader/facilitator with special knowledge for intercultural processes.
- o Participants in individual workshops receive a course-specific certificate at the end of the course.
- o For costs and further information ask:
Wolfgang.Wesenberg@Bibliodrama-Gesellschaft.de.
- o Concerning Covid-19: we expect that the training will take place. If you have to cancel because of Covid-19 it is cost-free.
- o To apply for the training is possible from now, please use the attached form.

CONCERNS AND DIMENSIONS OF THE EUROPEAN BIBLIODRAMA TRAINING PROGRAMME

1. The European course offers participants from countries where no (suitable) training is available the opportunity to acquire Bibliodrama skills.
2. The joint commitment of the different national Bibliodrama societies to a common training program strengthens ebn and European cooperation.
3. Bibliodrama is a suitable form for intercultural / interreligious education and encounter, also in multilingual groups, because of its creative approach. A training program with mixed leadership/instructor teams and participants is itself a model of such learning processes.
4. As a transnational process of intercultural learning, such a training program can demonstrate that intercultural/interreligious education is a task for all European countries, both within a country and across countries.
5. Such a program can provide additional impulses for religious and cultural education in the individual countries.
6. Cross-border Bibliodrama training awakens curiosity about the faith and life of other Christians and other religions and thus also respect for foreigners.

Overall this training can provide impulses for the integration of minorities and coexistence in Europe.
